

King of Birds

Author: African Storybook Initiative

Illustrator: Wiehan de Jager

Level 2

Once long ago, the birds had a meeting. They wanted a king, just like people and animals. Which bird should be king?

"The Eagle, he is strong and kingly!" said one. "No, he has no crown, and when he calls, he sounds too sad," said another. "Then Ostrich, because he is the largest and roars like a lion," one called out. "No, he can't fly. The king of the birds must be able to fly."

"I think I should be king," said Peacock, fanning his tail. "I am so beautiful."

"You are too proud," said Owl. "I have the largest eyes of any bird. I should be king." "No, not you, Owl," they shouted. "You go to sleep when the sun rises."

And so they didn't get very far. Then one bird had an idea. "He who can fly the highest will be king," he said.

"Yes, yes," they shouted, and they all flew up, up, into the sky.

The Goose flew for one day, straight over the highest mountains in the world. The Eagle flew for two days into the blue above the mountains. But the Vulture soared for three whole days without stopping, straight toward the sun.

Way above them, the birds heard Vulture cry, "I am the highest, I am king!"

But then just above him Vulture heard a tiny voice, "Tink, tink, tink! I am the highest, I am king."

It was Ncede, the Neddicky, the smallest bird of all! He had held onto the great wing feathers of Vulture as he soared into the sky!

"You won't beat me again," said Vulture, and soared straight up into the air. He flew up and up until he could fly no more. "I am higher than any other bird. I am your king!" he cried.

But out from under his wing crept the tiny bird.
"Tink, tink! Tink, tink! It is I, the smallest one! I am your king."

Vulture was too exhausted to fly any further.

So down he sailed - with the little bird still under his wing. The other birds were furious with Ncede. They waited for him, ready to pluck out all his feathers.

But the quick little bird saw how angry they were,
and flew into an empty snake hole.

"With your big eyes, you must keep guard at the hole and catch him when he comes out," they said to Owl. So Owl sat in front of the hole.

But the sun was warm and soon Owl was fast asleep. The little bird peeped out, saw that Owl was asleep, and z-zip, away he went.

Owl was very ashamed that he had let the little bird escape. Now he only hunts at night. In the day, he sleeps, away from the sight of the other birds.

Story Attribution:

This story: King of Birds is written by African Storybook Initiative . © African Storybook Initiative , 2015. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license.

Other Credits:

Adapted from a story in 'South-African Folk-Tales', by James A. Honey, 1910.

Illustration Attributions:

Cover page: Circle of birds by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2015. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 2: Birds on a branch, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2015. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 3: Ostrich and eagle, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2015. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 4: Dancing peacock and owl, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2015. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 5: Feather crown above the river, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2015. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 6: Birds flying high, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2015. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 7: Vulture flying high, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2015. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 8: Vulture flying above sky, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2015. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 9: Flying bird, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2015. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 10: Birds flying in the sky, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2016. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 11: Birds sitting on a branch, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2015. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license.

Disclaimer: <https://www.storyweaver.org.in/terms-and-conditions>

Some rights reserved. This book is CC-BY-4.0 licensed. You can copy, modify, distribute and perform the work, even for commercial purposes, all without asking permission. For full terms of use and attribution, <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/>

Illustration Attributions:

Page 12: Bird falling down, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2015. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 13: Owl sitting on a branch, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2015. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 14: Owl sleeping, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2015. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 15: Owl in the night, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2015. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license.

Disclaimer: https://www.storyweaver.org.in/terms_and_conditions

Some rights reserved. This book is CC-BY-4.0 licensed. You can copy, modify, distribute and perform the work, even for commercial purposes, all without asking permission. For full terms of use and attribution, <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/>

King of Birds (English)

The birds want a king, but they have difficulty choosing. They decide that the bird that can fly highest will be made king. The African Vulture thinks he has won the contest, but a tiny bird tricks him. Do the birds get their king?

This is a Level 2 book for children who recognize familiar words and can read new words with help.

Pratham Books goes digital to weave a whole new chapter in the realm of multilingual children's stories. Knitting together children, authors, illustrators and publishers. Folding in teachers, and translators. To create a rich fabric of openly licensed multilingual stories for the children of India and the world. Our unique online platform, StoryWeaver, is a playground where children, parents, teachers and librarians can get creative. Come, start weaving today, and help us get a book in every child's hand!